How do you avoid losing money to fiat conversion f

Vložil Ondobe - 26/11/2026 18:00

Every time I used to deposit on old-school bookies, my card issuer hit me with foreign transaction and exchange fees. How are people keeping their esports deposits fee-free?

==========

Re: How do you avoid losing money to fiat conversion f

Vložil Denzel - 26/11/2026 18:01

Switching to esports betting with bitcoin on a crypto-native site like Dexsport completely eliminates those annoying bank and currency conversion fees. You send BTC directly from your wallet - or use low-fee networks like Tron, BNB, or USDT - and every cent goes straight into your playable balance. Both Dota 2 and CS 2 get solid pre-match and live coverage, alongside football, tennis, and ice hockey. I also love that they run regular tournaments and offer up to 15% weekly cashback on sports and casino action, which actually puts value back into your account instead of draining it on fees.

==========