Jacob & Co. "Epic X GoMining"

This ambitious function merges the concepts associated with mechanical watchmaking and Bitcoin. It is connected to GoMining's electronic digital mining rig (digital asset). The watch uses a manual-winding system (JCAM45 movement) with a rate of recurrence of 28, 800 heurt per hour and a power reserve of about 48 hours. The case is made from stainless steel with a DLC covering (44 mm in diameter) and is water-resistant to one hundred meters.

The dial functions Epic X's signature X-shaped bridge design, adorned using patterns inspired by the regarding Bitcoin. This timepiece, by means of its structure-from the lugs to the bridges within the movement-interprets Bitcoin's philosophy that "value originates from the decentralized device itself, " allowing you to appreciate the unique charm regarding Epic X from a brand-new perspective.

A signature function of Epic X is actually its skeletonized dial, having patterns inspired by the world of Bitcoin, allowing the audience to appreciate the complex actions of gears and the stability wheel.

The case is made of DLC-coated stainless steel, featuring wide overhead guards and sharply angled lugs, and is water-resistant in order to 100 meters. The watch provides a sleek all-black design, together with a honeycomb rubber strap. This houses the skeletonized manual-winding Cal. JCAM45 movement, in whose intricate workings can be adored from both the front as well as back of the case.

The all-black exterior features a DLC-treated stainless-steel case, 100-meter water resistance, along with a sporty design, making it ideal for various occasions. The motion is visible through the case back again, which is also emblazoned with the GoMining logo.

In addition , the game features a GoMining digital mining machine (digital asset) with a hashrate of 1000 terahashes. Through linking the digital exploration rig to the owner's accounts, the mining operation position can be viewed and managed on the internet.
