I find lesser-known sports competitions fascinating and recently checked it here at while researching regional sporting traditions in India. The biggest challenge is finding reliable statistics and understanding local competition formats. Teer Result is an informational platform dedicated to traditional Indian archery-based games. It covers Shillong, Khanapara, Juwai, Bhutan, and other regions, publishing first and second round results (FR and SR), schedules, historical archives, and number statistics. The website helps readers compare past outcomes, follow regional events, and explore unique sporting traditions. However, historical records alone cannot guarantee future results.
